

Hartwick Atelier — Proposed copy for every placeholder

Prepared 14 September 2026 · for Aloha's review · nothing here is on the site yet

Everything below is a proposal. It replaces the on-screen placeholders in the unpublished development theme only after you approve it, line by line or page by page. Where a line cannot be written by us — a Master's name, a care instruction, a delivery term, a wearer's words — it says so, and stays a marked placeholder.

How to read this document

Every block carries a tag:

TAG	MEANING
[F]	Taken from, or built directly on, Christina's Framework v3 or the Brand Book. Safe to publish once you approve the phrasing.
[S]	Taken from the naming spreadsheet (Hartwick_Style_Naming_Conventions). Product facts only as the sheet states them.
[W]	Already on the wireframes / your mockups. Kept unless noted.
[P]	Proposed by us. Brand-voice copy that states no fact we cannot support. Needs your eye.
[A]	Needs Aloha's decision — a choice between readings, or a number/date/location only you have.
[C]	Needs Christina — legal, consent, health claims, or terminology beyond Framework v3.
[X]	Cannot be written by us. Stays a labelled placeholder until the real thing arrives.

Voice, throughout, from Framework v3 §04: poetic not promotional; specific not vague; transformative not transactional; honest about what most brands hide. Without urgency. British spelling. Every "Register" CTA reads Join The Register.

I. Homepage

Most of this page is wireframe copy you have already seen. The changes are the seven index rows, the Masters roles, the Featured Lot record, the Journal cards, and one number.

01 Hero — no change

Eyebrow Nature · Masters · Wearer · Woven from the earth. Worn by those who know. · sub Cloth as a record of material, place and human knowledge · body A digital house where the making is never separated from the garment. Every interaction should reveal origin before transaction. · link Enter the Collection. [W]

02 The House — no change

A slower way of making. — Hartwick Atelier follows the complete life of a garment, from fibre and dye plant to loom, hand-finishing and wearer. The story is not added after the piece is made. The story is the piece. [W]

03 Collection Index — replace the seven wireframe rows

Current rows (Tide, Mesa, Stone, Flint, Drift, Fell, Ember) are wireframe names and contradict the naming convention. Proposed rows, all real Styles from the sheet. Which seven ship is the Lot I list — yours to confirm. The section's "Lot I product list confirmed" switch stays off until then.

#	STYLE	EXPRESSION	LOT
01	Skirt 002	Handspun Fresh Pink Cotton Khadi	Lot I
02	Shirt 001	Kora Khadi, Handwoven Pinstripe	Lot I
03	Trouser 001	Handloom Cotton Ikat, Celeste	Lot I
04	Shirt 004	Ultra-Fine Handspun Jamdani, Tulip Motif	Lot I
05	Coat 001	Handloom Ikat, Neige, Hand-Guided Quilting	Lot I
06	Dress 001	Handspun Silk-Cotton, Block Printed Natural Dye, St. Germain	Lot I
07	Belt 001	Gota Patti Embroidery, Cotton Velvet & Silk, Reversible	Lot I

Eyebrow Collection index · link View the Release (was View full catalogue — "catalogue" is not a house word; The Release is). [S] [A]

04 The Masters Index — roles aligned to Framework v3

Eyebrow The Masters Index · intro The practices, works and stories behind each collection. The people who hold the knowledge are never background. [W]

Roles (no names — names publish only from the master metaobject, with permission):

CURRENT (WIREFRAME)	PROPOSED	WHY
Master Weaver · Rajasthan	Khadi Weaver	Framework names the techniques; "Rajasthan" is unverified for weaving
Natural Indigo Master	Natural Indigo Dyer
Khadi Spinner	Khadi Spinner	keep
Block Printer	Ajrakh Block Printer	Ajrakh is in the Framework and the sheet (PJ 001)

CURRENT (WIREFRAME)	PROPOSED	WHY
Hand Finisher	Hand Finisher	keep
Dye House	Ikat Dyer	Ikat is a named technique; "Dye House" is a building
Jewellery Artisan	Gota Patti Embroiderer	Belt 001 is Gota Patti; jewellery is not in the naming sheet
Textile Researcher	Jamdani Weaver	UNESCO-listed technique, Shirt 004
Pattern Cutter	Pattern Cutter	keep — the tailoring is real (Framework: "finely tailored")

Link Meet the Masters (already). The "[14] pieces" suffix stays off — a count answers a question about the shop, not the people. [F] [S]

o5 Featured Lot — use the one piece with a verified origin

The current record (khadi, natural indigo, Rajasthan) is unverified and must not go live as fact. Skirt 003 is the only apparel Style whose origin the sheet confirms (West Bengal), so it is the honest choice for the featured record until Chanchal verifies the rest.

- Eyebrow Lot I · Skirt 003
- Title Skirt 003
- Intro Handspun cotton, white with a blue border, woven in West Bengal. A fully pleated mid-length skirt from the Calcutta set. Made at the pace the loom and the season allow.
- Fibre Handspun cotton · Colour White with blue border · Made by The Masters, West Bengal · Availability Through The Register
- Link The Origin [S] [A — or name another piece once verified]

o6 Journal / Dispatch — three cards

Keep the wireframe's three categories; they map cleanly onto the brand pillars. Standfirsts tightened:

CARD	TITLE	STANDFIRST
01	The Loom	Technique, and the hands that hold it.
02	The Colour	The plant, the mineral and the season behind the cloth.
03	The Wearer	The piece once it enters someone's life.

Eyebrow Journal / Dispatch · link Read the Journal. [W] [P]

o7 The Register — no change

Be first to receive what comes next. — Private access to new Lots, The Dispatch, and stories from the workshops before they reach the wider world. · Join The Register. [W]

2. Product page — the defaults

Per-piece copy (the description, the fit, the record rows) publishes from Shopify and the hartwick.* metafields. What follows are the section defaults — the words that frame every product page — and the accordion content that is currently marked "pending". Several of the current defaults are instructions to the author ("Describe the actual cut...") rather than copy; those are the ones that most need replacing.

The Piece

- Eyebrow The Piece · Heading A study in proportion, movement and ease. [W]
- Intro (replaces "Describe the actual cut..."): Cut with the precision of fine tailoring and finished by hand. The silhouette is contemporary; the cloth is not. Each piece is made to move well, sit beautifully and be kept — the kind of thing people stop and ask you about. [F — Brand Promise §03]

The Cloth / Material Record

- Heading What the hand leaves inside the material. [W]
- Intro (replaces "Explain fibre, yarn, weave..."): Handspun yarn is never perfectly even. Handwoven cloth carries the rhythm of the person at the loom. A natural dye answers the season it was made in — expanding in summer heat, contracting in winter cold. These are not flaws to be excused. They are the record of how the piece was made, and they are set down here precisely. [F — Brand Promise "Handloom is humanity's original sustainable technology"]
- Record rows: values publish from metafields. The placeholder values (khadi / indigo / Rajasthan / 180 gsm) must be replaced by real data per product, not by better placeholders. [X]

Made by Masters (Authorship)

- Heading Authorship made visible. [W]

- Intro (replaces "Name the Master or workshop..."): Every piece is made by named people in named places. Where a Master has agreed to be named, their name, workshop and technique appear here, with the part of the work that passed through their hands. [F] [P]
- Link Meet the Master. Names, portraits, regions: [X] until permission is confirmed.

The Origin

- Heading A route through material and place. [W]
- Intro (replaces "Show the journey without pretending..."): A piece does not come from one place. The fibre, the spinning, the loom, the dye and the final construction each have their own workshop and their own season. The route below is published only where it has been confirmed. [F — Origin definition] [P]
- Steps: Fibre · Spinning · Weaving · Dyeing · Construction — keep. Sub-labels publish from the origin metaobject. [W]

Process

- Eyebrow Process · marks Handspun · Handwoven · Natural dye · Hand finished [W]
- Heading — current Only the processes that genuinely apply to this piece. reads as a note to the editor.
Proposed: Each mark is a process this piece has passed through. [P] [A — keep yours if it was intentional]

Living with the piece — the four rows

Heading Fit, care and delivery, kept clear. [W]

Fit & garment measurements — publishes per product. Default frame: Measurements are taken flat on the garment itself. Where two sizes are close, the model's height and the size worn are given so you can judge the ease.
Numbers: [X — Angela].

Care & longevity — the hangtag brief in Framework v3 already contains the approved care language, so this can be real:

Dry clean or hand wash cold. No tumble dry. No synthetics here. Handwork results in variations. We cherish these for their human touch. Natural dyes are living colour: they soften with wear and with light, and a piece made in summer will breathe differently from one made in winter. [F] △ Any further instruction (water temperature, ironing, storage) is Angela's to confirm. [A]

Delivery & returns — commercial terms; we will not invent them. Draft skeleton so the page reads correctly once the numbers land:

Each piece is made, finished and checked in India and dispatched from [location]. Delivery takes [n–n] days to [regions]. Duties and taxes are shown at checkout. Returns are accepted within [n] days of delivery, unworn, with the Lot tag attached; exchanges [terms]. Write to contact@hartwickatelier.com and a person will reply. [C] [A]

Edition / Lot — Framework v3 defines this fully:

Every piece carries its Lot number — Lot I, Lot II — marking where it sits in the life of the house. Where a piece is individually numbered, its Edition records its place in the run: 3 / 25 is the third of twenty-five. Runs are sized to what the Masters can make in one cycle. Some are twenty-five; some are two. There is no restock. [F]

Same content feeds the buy-rail Sizing information and Customer care rows, and the Delivery popup.

A wearer's note — stays hidden

Framework v3 gives four "the kind of quote to seek" examples. They are written by Christina as targets, not testimony, and CLAUDE.md forbids invented quotations. Recommendation: keep the section switched off until the first real, permission-confirmed quote is gathered (Framework §"How to gather them": ask Circle members and early customers, "How does it make you feel? What do other people say?"). The section is built and takes the quote the moment it exists. [X] [A]

Continue the record

Eyebrow Continue the record · Heading Related stories and pieces. · kicker The cloth / the master · link Read the related story. Keep. Related pieces: real Styles from the sheet (e.g. Skirt 003 · Handspun Cotton Khadi, Red-Brick Pinstripe; Trouser 001 · Handloom Cotton Ikat, Celeste) instead of "Tiny Pinstripe Cotton Khadi", which is not in the sheet. [S]

The Register (product page variant)

Occasional correspondence from the Atelier. — New pieces, the people who make them, and useful notes on materials, care and provenance. Keep. [W]

3. The Circle page

Structure and headings are transcribed from your 4 September design. The body lines below the headings were also in your design and are kept. What follows is the copy that is still a marked placeholder.

△ The Framework-v3 conflict (invitation-only, "no application route") is still open with Christina. Everything below is written so that it reads correctly whether the form is on or off — none of it promises that anyone can apply.

Hero — keep your copy

The Circle / Private client access · A closer relationship with the work. · body as designed · link Request access (only while the form is on). [W]

The details — four answers

QUESTION	PROPOSED ANSWER	TAG
Is there a fee to join?	No. There is no fee, no tier and nothing to buy. The Circle is a small group of founding friends of the house.	[F]
Is The Circle a loyalty programme?	No. There are no points, no rewards for spending and no promotions. It exists so that a small number of people can stay close to the work — the Masters, the materials and the pieces — as it develops.	[F] [W — echoes your "not a points programme" line]
Where can private appointments take place?	Online, at a time that suits you, or in person during a Residency or an Atelier Evening. [Locations — your design mentioned Mallorca.]	[A]
How will my information be used?	To reply to your request and, if you join, to send the notes, viewings and invitations you have asked for. Nothing is sold or shared. You can leave at any time by replying to any note.	[C]

When the form is switched off (closed_text)

The Circle is a small, invitation-only group of founding friends of the house. There is no application. If you would like to stay close to the work, The Register is open to all. → Join The Register [F]

Form consent (consent_text)

Draft for Christina: Yes, you may contact me about this request. I understand this places me on The Register, and that I can withdraw at any time. [C]

From the atelier — three cards

Keep your titles (The people behind the work · Why this material · Keeping a piece in use). Standfirsts as designed. [W]

The Register band (Circle variant)

For those who prefer simply to receive the notes. — The Register shares new Lots, The Dispatch and notes from the workshops. No application is required. Keep. [W]

4. The Collection page — new (see mockup)

Header

- Eyebrow The Collection
- A body of work that accumulates.
- The Collection does not reset with the season. Every Style is a permanent silhouette — Skirt 001, Shirt 007 — and every Expression is the cloth it is realised in for a given Lot. What is available now is The Release.

Everything the house has made stays in The Archive. [F — glossary: Collection, Style, Expression, Release, Archive]

- Link How the Collection works (→ an article, or a short page — your call) [A]

The Release record (right column)

The Release · Lot I / Pieces in this Release · [n] / Made by · The Masters, India / Ships · [date] · confirmed at order / Restock · None. When the last piece goes, the Release closes. [F] [A — number and date]

Filters (record voice)

All · Apparel · Fine Silks · Yoga Mats — the three sheets of the naming spreadsheet. Then Technique (Khadi · Ikat · Jamdani · Ajrakh · Block print · Gota Patti), Style, and Sort · Lot, newest. [S]

Product cards

Style / Expression / Lot I · Edition of [n] / price. Small tags only where true: Core Style (Framework names Skirt 001 and 002 "for example" — the full list is yours), Release-exclusive, or a verified origin (Woven in West Bengal, Embroidered in Rajasthan). Edition sizes in the mockup are illustrative. [S] [A]

Interstitial — Made by Masters (dark band)

Nothing here is restocked. — Each Edition is sized to what the Masters can make in one cycle — some runs are twenty-five, some are two. A Jamdani weaver makes a quarter of an inch a day. When the last piece of a Release goes, the Release closes, and the record moves to The Archive. → Meet the Masters [F]

The Archive band

Everything the house has made. — The Archive is the permanent record of every piece, Lot by Lot. It is not a sale section. A piece that did not find its wearer in its original Release remains eligible to return in a future one. → Enter the Archive. Right: the Lot index (Lot I · current / Lot II · in production / Lot III · announced through The Register). [F] [A — is Lot II real yet?]

The Register band (Collection variant)

Be first to receive what comes next. — Each Release is announced to The Register before it is public — the pieces, the number made, the ship date. Free, and open to all. [F]

5. The Masters page — new (see mockup)

No artisan is named anywhere on this page. Every "name" field reads Published with permission; every region reads [pending verification] except where the sheet confirms it.

Hero (full-width photograph, dark overlay — as you asked for the index)

- Eyebrow The Masters

- The knowledge most of the world has forgotten. [F — glossary, verbatim]
- Khadi weavers. Ajrakh block printers. Ikat dyers. Jamdani weavers. Gota Patti embroiderers. Each technique was developed over centuries in alignment with the natural world — dyes drawn from plants and minerals, processes governed by sunlight, rainfall and time. This knowledge lives in hands and families, not factories. [F — verbatim, lightly re-punctuated]

The pace

- Their pace is the pace of nature. That is the pace of Hartwick. [F]
- A Jamdani artisan weaves a quarter of an inch a day. Ajrakh silk rests between each of its sixteen processes, because the natural dye needs time to bond with the fibre. Natural indigo is fixed by the sun. There are no shortcuts, and the Lot sizes are not a marketing device — they are the honest yield of what nature and the Masters can produce in one cycle. / We do not rush what took this long to become this extraordinary. [F — verbatim from "Product flow · logic check" and Brand Promise]

The techniques — an index (works like the homepage Collection Index)

#	ROW	ONE-LINE DESCRIPTION (OPENS ON SELECT)	TAG
01	Khadi · handspun, handwoven cotton	Yarn spun by hand, then woven by hand. The count is never perfectly even, which is why the cloth breathes and drapes as it does.	[F]
02	Jamdani · UNESCO Intangible Cultural Heritage	A quarter of an inch a day. The motif is woven into the cloth as it is made, not printed on afterwards.	[F] first sentence; second is a general definition [A]
03	Ajrakh · sixteen processes, natural dye	Block-printed and resist-dyed in stages, with rest between each so the dye can bond with the fibre.	[F]
04	Ikat · yarn dyed before the loom	The pattern is decided before the cloth exists: the yarn is bound and dyed first, then woven.	general definition [A]
05	Natural & Ayurvedic dye · indigo, plant, mineral	Colour drawn from plants and minerals, fixed by sun and time. It responds to the season it was made in.	[F]
06	Hand block print · on Mashru silk and cotton	Carved wood, dipped and stamped layer by layer. Each block started as a tree.	[existing Story page copy]
07	Gota Patti · hand embroidery, zari thread	Hand embroidery on cotton velvet with copper zari thread.	[S — Belt 001]

Record beneath each: Fibre · Region (West Bengal where verified; else pending) · In this Release (real Styles from the sheet) · link See the [technique] pieces. [S]

The Masters — grid

- Named with permission.

- The Masters are not supporting characters. Each appears here with their agreement — name, workshop and region. Until that agreement is given, the role and the technique are shown and the name is withheld. Nothing here is written by us on their behalf. [F — Brand Pillars] [P]
- Cards: Jamdani Weaver · Khadi Spinner · Ajrakh Block Printer · Ikat Dyer · Natural Indigo Dyer · Gota Patti Embroiderer. Portraits, names, regions: [X]

Stewardship (dark band)

To work with The Masters is to become a steward of something irreplaceable. [F] — Every piece in the Collection ships with its Lot number, its Origin, and — with permission — the name of the Master who made it. The value of each piece begins with knowledge held in human hands. [F — Product flow §05, Brand Truth] → See the pieces they made

From the Journal — three Masters stories (see §6)

The Register band (Masters variant)

Stories from the workshops, before anyone else. — The Dispatch names the technique, the plant and — with permission — the Master. It goes to The Register first. [F] [P]

6. The Journal page — new (see mockup)

Header

- Eyebrow The Journal
- Notes on cloth, colour, and the people who make it.
- The Journal is where The Dispatch is kept. Considered writing on craft, provenance, the Masters and what is coming next — sent to The Register first, and published here afterwards. [F — Dispatch definition] [A — "sent to The Register first" is a publishing rule; confirm you want it]

Categories (index, right column)

All notes · 01 The Loom Technique · the Masters · 02 The Colour Plant · mineral · season · 03 The Wearer The piece in a life · 04 From the Founder Angela, in the first person · 05 The Dispatch Each Release, stated plainly.

The first three are the wireframe's; the last two are the Framework's Founder pillar and the Dispatch itself. [W] [F]

Proposed first notes — titles and standfirsts

These are topics the Framework already contains, offered so the page can be designed and the blog structured. Each needs writing (by Christina or Angela); none states a fact the Framework does not.

CATEGORY	TITLE	STANDFIRST	SOURCE
The Loom	A quarter of an inch a day.	What a Jamdani weaver makes between dawn and dusk, why the cloth cannot be hurried, and what that means for the size of a Lot.	[F]
The Colour	Indigo waits for the sun.	Natural indigo is fixed by light, not by chemistry. On the days the sun does not come, the dye house waits.	[F]
The Loom	Sixteen processes, and the rest between them.	Ajrakh silk rests between each stage so the dye can bond with the fibre. The waiting is part of the technique.	[F]
The Wearer	How to read an Edition number.	3 / 25: what the two numbers on the hangtag mean, and why a run is sized the way it is.	[F]
From the Founder	Weaving as vibration.	Angela on the research behind the house — with monks, with physicists — and why what you wear carries an energy.	[F — Founder pillar]
The Colour	One Style, many Expressions.	The silhouette is permanent. The season, the plant and the Master change the cloth it is made in.	[F]
The Dispatch	Dispatch No. 01 — the first Release.	The pieces, the number made, the ship date. Stated plainly, as every Release will be.	[F]

The Dispatch archive

Kept here, after it has gone to The Register. — Not a promotion. Not a sales email. A considered piece of writing, three to four times a year around each Release and occasionally between. [F — "Three to four Releases per year"]
[A — cadence between Releases]

The Register band (Journal variant)

The Dispatch arrives by letter first. — Every note is sent to The Register before it appears here. Free, and open to all. [F] [P]

7. The Register page — new (see mockup)

Hero (form in the hero — the page's one job)

- Eyebrow The Register
- To be on The Register is to be first. [F — glossary, verbatim]
- Free, and open to all. The Register is how the house speaks to the people who care about how things are made — first to hear of each Release, first to be invited to Atelier Evenings, and the only address The Dispatch is sent to. [F]
- Fields: Email address · First name (optional) · consent [C] · Join The Register · A confirmation arrives by email. One click, and you are on The Register. (double opt-in) [W]

△ Reserve is not mentioned. Framework v3 gives Register members "first access to Reserve", but Reserve is Phase 2 and must not be promised at launch. One line can be added when it ships: and, when the Reserve window opens, the right to secure a piece before the public Release. [A]

What you receive — three columns

01 THE DISPATCH	02 EACH RELEASE, FIRST	03 ATELIER EVENINGS
A considered piece of writing, not a sales email. On craft, provenance, the people behind the pieces, and what is coming next.	The pieces, the number made and the ship date — announced to The Register before the Release is public. Scarcity stated plainly.	Private gatherings around craft, conversation and community. The Register is the only route to them.

All three [F — glossary and Product Flow, near-verbatim].

How it works (dark band) — Three steps. No account.

- 01 / Join — One address. Your email, and your first name if you would like the letters addressed to you. Nothing else is asked for.
- 02 / Confirm — One click. A confirmation arrives in your inbox. Clicking it is what places you on The Register, so no one can be added by someone else.
- 03 / Receive — Then, the letters. The Dispatch, each Release before it is public, and the invitations. Every letter carries a link to leave; it takes one click. [P — describes the double-opt-in flow already built in Klaviyo]

Plainly — No urgency. No noise.

We do not manufacture urgency. Expect the announcement of three to four Releases a year, The Dispatch around each, and very little in between. Your address is used for The Register and nothing else. / The Register is not The Circle. The Circle is a small, invitation-only group of founding friends of the house, and has no application route. The Register is open to everyone, and it is the door to everything that follows. [F — Messaging po4 "We do not manufacture urgency"; glossary] — second paragraph must be re-read once the Circle conflict is settled. [C]

The details

QUESTION	ANSWER	TAG
Is The Register free?	Yes. There is no fee, no tier and nothing to buy. It is a list of people who want to know how the pieces are made and when they are available.	[F]
How often will I hear from you?	Around each Release — three to four a year — and occasionally between, when there is something worth a letter.	[F] [A]
Can I leave?	Yes, from any letter, with one click. No questions.	[P]
Is this the same as The Circle?	No. The Circle is invitation-only and has no application route. The Register is open to all.	[F]

QUESTION	ANSWER	TAG
What happens to my email address?	It is used to send you The Register's letters and for nothing else. It is not sold or shared.	[C]

Foot

Three cards, Latest from The Dispatch (from §6), then the footer. No second form — the hero carries it.

8. What we still cannot write — the honest list
